

Refer to Objective and the Relevant Practice Description (RPD) for each Objective:

“...the basic “floor plan” of a module is one that, at the front end, always informs the students of the purpose and relevance of the lesson, and at the back end, always provides practice, feedback, and evaluation. In between, it offers whatever instruction is needed to get them from where they are to where they are ready to practice” (Mager, R. (1997). Making instruction work or skillbloomers: A step by step guide to designing and developing instruction that works, (p.145).

The full content description as explained above is provided in the “Module/Lesson Plan.” Below provides the performance (objective) and the necessary content in order to perform the objective.
